Dear RSA Partner:

The count-down has begun!

On January 17-21, 1999, the Eighth Annual RSA Data Security Conference and Expo will be held at the San José McEnergy Convention Center.

As one of our valued partners, we invite your company to participate in one of the most important data security events in the industry. With expected attendance to include more than 5,000 representatives from business, education, government, Wall Street, and the media, there has never been a more exciting or more timely opportunity to showcase your company before key decision makers in network computing, enterprise security, cryptography, telecommunications, consumer tech, and other key markets.

In this mailing, you'll find advance information about the conference and on the participation options available for your company. I look forward to working with you personally to make sure your company gets both maximum exposure and maximum benefit from RSA'99.

Let me conclude with one final thought: based on the ever-increasing interest in issues of enterprise security and cryptography, we know the 1999 RSA Conference will be an event of major importance — in the industry and in the media. I encourage you to respond immediately to this invitation to participate by completing the enclosed forms and returning them to:

Sincerely,

CONFERENCE PARTICIPATION AT-A-GLANCE

Become a Conference Sponsor

There is no better way to put your company's strength, commitment, and corporate identity in the spotlight than by becoming a 1999 RSA Conference corporate sponsor.

As a sponsor, you not only tie your company's name to a major event, but can also take advantage of special sponsorship opportunities including cocktail receptions, special meals, parties and giveaways. Conference sponsorships are the best way we know to raise your corporate identity and keep your company name before key decision makers. But you must act quickly; sponsorships are limited and available only a first-come, first-served basis.

Reserve an Exhibit Space

The RSA '99 exhibition area will bring together the leading vendors of data security products and services. New in 1999, admission to the Exhibit Floor will also be free to the public, as well as to conference attendees. This added access will increase floor traffic and assure that your company achieves high visibility and accessibility to the most important and influential enterprise security decision makers.

Advertise in the 1999 RSA Conference Program

RSA Conference Programs are distributed without cost to every paid conference attendee. If you've been looking for an advertising medium that is both highly targeted and powerfully effective, you've found the perfect place. Advertising in the Conference Program not only guarantees that your logo and your advertising message reaches more than 5,000 decision makers in data security, but also insures that conference visitors will take your company's name and contact numbers home with them for use year-round.

Speak at the Conference

Our 1999 Conference will offer more than 150 individual break-out sessions. Proposed topics range from discussions of the technical aspects of cutting-edge cryptographic research to real world case studies describing the most innovative implementations of enterprise security.

As a valued partner, we invite you to propose a subject for a talk. Please submit your topic by June 1, 1998. (For more information on submitting a topic for a conference session, visit www.rsa.com and click on the RSA '99 icon.)

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Many of these sponsorships involve "giveaways" for all 3,000 conference attendees. Of course, your organization's logo will be prominently featured on, in conjunction with, any item you choose to sponsor. (Please note: in general, the sponsorships apply to regular paid full conference attendees only, not to "Expo-Only" attendees.)

For major sponsorships (contributions above the $40,000 level) your organization will receive recognition in the following ways:

- Your company is entitled to display signage, show videos, and distribute giveaways and product literature at the events you sponsor. RSA will display your signage prominently.
- The Conference Program will include your organization's mission statement and logo, if you sponsor before the program goes to press.
- The Conference proceedings will include your corporate logo and mission statement.
- Conference general sessions – sponsors will be verbally acknowledged several times throughout the conference and through conference signage.

1. The 1999 RSA Data Security Conference, including the Exhibition portion of the Conference, is currently scheduled to take place at the San Jose McEnery Convention Center in San Jose, California, on January 18th, 19th and 20th, 1999 (the "Exhibition").
2. Exhibitor desires to lease space from RSA during the Exhibition ("exhibit space") for the purposes of exhibiting its latest technology implementing RSA's security technology.
3. Exhibitor hereby agrees to lease exhibit space during the Exhibition according to Conference Rules, as well as the following terms and conditions.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. RSA reserves the right to make changes in the Exhibition, including dates, times and location thereof. RSA will make reasonable efforts to inform Exhibitor of any such changes on a timely basis. RSA shall not assume any liability for damages in the event Exhibitor does not timely receive such information despite RSA's reasonable efforts to do so.
2. Exhibitor shall indicate on the reverse no more than three booth locations in order of preference. The individuals managing the Exhibition (collectively, "Conference management") will make reasonable efforts to assign space as requested on the reverse. RSA shall not assume any liability for damages in the event Exhibitor does not obtain its preferences despite RSA's reasonable efforts to so assign them. Before or after assignment of spaces, space allocations may be modified if the Conference management, in its sole and absolute discretion, deems it desirable and/or necessary.
3. Exhibitor may not assign, share or sublet any portion of the space allotted without prior written permission from the Conference management.
4. During the months of December 1998 and January 1999, Exhibitor hereby agrees to display the "RSA'99" conference logo on the Exhibitor's home page on the Internet, linked back to the RSA'99 conference website.
5. RSA reserves the right to restrict exhibits which, because of noise, method of operation, or any other reason, become objectionable or detract from the Exhibition as a whole. RSA is not liable for any refund of rental or other expenses incurred by Exhibitor in such an event.
6. RSA has designated official Conference Contractors to provide the following products and services: drayage, machine moving, garbage, machinery erection, furniture, booth and floor decorations, signs, photos, telephone and Internet services, and electricians. Other labor may be available and charged at the then-prevailing rates charged by an available vendor, who is separate from and shall not be considered a Conference Contractor. Arrangements for these services are made between the Exhibitor and the vendor, and RSA assumes no responsibility or liability for any of the services or materials so delivered by such vendor.
7. Exhibitor is required to observe all union contracts in effect between RSA, the official Contractors, the McEnery Convention Center and various labor organizations during the Exhibition.
8. RSA will provide regular guard service at the extremes perimeters of the exhibit area during the Exhibition. However, RSA will not be liable for damage or loss of Exhibitor's properties through theft, fire, accident, natural or other causes, whether the result of negligence or otherwise. Exhibitor shall indemnify RSA against any claim resulting from the negligence of the Exhibitor. Exhibitor shall insure their exhibits and display materials.

One Hundred Percent (100%) of the total invoiced amount is due within sixty (60) days of signing the Agreement.
